THIRD-PARTY RISK MANAGEMENT SERVICE

Third-Party Risk Management (TPRM) Service

Third-party risk management is more crucial than ever in today's interconnected business environment. The actions of your vendors, partners, and suppliers have a significant impact on your organization's security posture and compliance status.

As the attack surface expands globally, Third-Party Risk Management (TPRM) programs, also known as Vendor Risk Management, must be matured and fortified more than ever.

Evvo Labs provides comprehensive Third-Party Risk Management Service that offers unmatched visibility, insights, and proactive risk mitigation.

Third-Party Risk Management (TPRM) Service

Third-party Risk Management (TPRM) is the practice of monitoring your third-, fourth-, and even fifth-party relationships to ensure that they do not result in adverse business outcomes, interrupt daily operations, or expose your organization to a security risk.

Typically, this is accomplished via a third-party Risk Management program, which includes processes, procedures, and technology to assist companies in assessing, monitoring, and managing risk exposure resulting from these kinds of relationships. In the event of a third-party risk occurrence, TPRM programs also incorporate extensive risk mitigation procedures to limit legal liability and reputational harm.
